DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 1-9 are allowed.
2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The current claims a system comprises a communication terminal for storing a country code corresponding to a language understandable to the owner of the communication terminal, a switch for receiving the country code from the communication terminal, and a notification apparatus for receiving the country code from the switch, selecting a language based on the country code, determining whether to send notification of guidance information (playing audio prompts) to the communication terminal based on a necessary/unnecessary signal generated from the switch, and if necessary to send the notification, setting a notification order based on a notification order direction signal from the switch.

Caccuro et al. (US 5,440,615) discloses a voice messaging system for play greetings to caller from different counties, and based on received caller ID, including originating country code, select a greeting language in accordance with the originating country code. Caccuro fails to teach storing the originating country code, corresponding to a language known to the owner of an originating terminal, in the originating terminal and sending the originating country code from the originating terminal to the voice messaging system. Caccuro also fails to teach a determining means and ordering means for determining whether to send a greeting and ordering the greeting based on signals from a switch.

Fung et al. (US 6,069,939) discloses a system for prompting a destination party using a language corresponding to a destination country code. Fung fails to teach storing a country code, corresponding to a language known to the owner of an originating terminal, in the originating terminal and sending the country code to a switch. Fung also fails to teach a determining means and ordering means for determining whether to send a greeting and ordering the greeting based on signals from a switch.

Griesmer et al. (US 5,878,124) discloses universal telephone in that an originating country code and a destination country code are stored and sent to a network. Griesmer fails to teach a determining means and ordering means for determining whether to send a greeting and ordering the greeting based on signals from a switch.

Any combination of the above prior art fails to meet the claimed limitations.

3. Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
